Oddfellows and Rebekahs Entertain.

There were over 125 visitors from Calgary and other lodges to attend the special meeting, held by the Didsbury Rebekah and Odd-fellow lodges on last Friday evening.

The meeting of Oddfellows was held in the Opera House and degree work was conferred by the Crescent Lodge of Calgary, whose degree team is classed as the best in the province. A large number of Grand Lodge officers were present, among whom were Grand Master Morden, of Lethbridge and Deputy Grand Master Christie, of Calgary. At the close of the meeting, speeches were made by the officers, in which they congratulated the Didsbury Lodge on having the highest gain in membership of any lodge in the province during the past year.

The Rebekahs held their meeting in the Oddfellows Hall and degree work was conferred by Anoka Rebekah Lodge, of Calgary.

After the meeting, both Oddfellows and Rebekahs gathered at the Opera House for a social evening. There were over 200 present and a good time was spent. Lunch was also served and the party broke up about 2 a.m.

U.F.A. BANQUET.

The banquet given by the U. F. A. on Monday evening, was attended by a large representation of farmers from all over the district. About one hundred people sat down to a bountiful dinner provided by the ladies of the Ladies Aid.

Among the outside visitors were Hon. R. G. Reid, Mr. A. B. Claypool, Mr. I. Ingaleson, M. L. A. of Manitoba and Mr. J. D. McKay, president of the Canadian Livestock Association of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

After the dinner, Mr. J. W. Phillipson, proposed a toast to the U. F. A. and Mr. J. McDougal, spoke in reply. Rev. A. E. Hayes, also spoke in a more or less humorous vein.

Later in the evening a public meeting was held in the Knox Church and Mr. E. Clark, occupied the chair.

Mr. A. B. Claypool spoke, stressing the fact that at no time more than the present was it more important for the farmers to co-operate and he urged all to get behind the U. F. A. movement. He also spoke at length on the wheat situation.

Hon. R. G. Reid, minister of lands, mines and fisheries, also spoke of the need of co-operation among the farmers. In speaking on the work of his department, he said that when the province took over the natural resources, it was expected that the cost of administration would equal the revenues received for some considerable time. However, they were doing considerably better than that and in October, the first month of operation, the revenue amounted to over $150,000 and in November, to $130,000. He stated that although Manitoba and Saskatchewan had already abandoned the homestead idea, the Alberta Government had not yet decided on their policy. He expected that homesteads would be available for our own home boys, but doubtless some land would be offered for sale. He pointed out the advantages of local administration and stated that never in the history of the province was co-operation more needed.

The production of oil in the province was now almost equal to the consumption and he thought that before long Alberta would be exporting oil and that the price of oil to the consumer in the province would doubtless be lower. He closed his speech by again urging the farmers to stick together and stated that never in the history of the province was co-operation more needed.

Didsbury Lose in First Hokey Game.

The Didsbury Hockey boys, played their first game of the season on Saturday night, when they met the Calgary Bruins in an exhibition game. The boys put up an excellent showing and although the score at the wind up was 5-2 it was anybody's game up to the last five minutes.

No score was made in the first period. In the second period, Dippel drove the puck into the net giving the Bruins the lead. Two minutes later, Goeder equalized the score. Near the end of the period, Luft beat the Didsbury goalie and Calgary was leading with 2 to 1. From the face off in the last period, Cook rushed and his back hand flip beat Shumaker to the score. Disaster came to the home team in the last five minutes, when Alex Luft, the flashy Bruins forward, scored three goals, which gave Calgary the game with a score of 5-2.

Bruins: Goal, Shumaker; defense, Armine, Nevinsky; forward, Hugert; Dipple; A Luft; subs, D. Luft; F. Luft.

Last evening, the local hockey boys crossed sticks with the Calgary Jimmies, one of the strongest aggregations in the province. A fast and rousing game was witnessed, some good hockey being shown. The final score was 7-3 in favor of the Jimmies.

Unemployment Relief Policies

Unemployment not only casts a sinister shadow over the world today, but the substance of the thing has hundreds of thousands, even millions, of men, women and children in its grip. Admittedly the situation is a serious one, first, because of the actual suffering entailed thereby, but also because it is causing men to "see red," as the saying is, and lose faith in all established and orderly methods of government, society and business. The tendency is to repudiate economic truths, and to try experiments with almost any hair-brained proposal that may be advanced. Here lies the real danger for the future, because many of the suggested remedies would result in a state of affairs far worse, and cause more suffering, than the condition they sought to improve and cure.

One suggested temporary remedy for present unemployment that undoubtedly finds support in many quarters is the substitution of handwork, manual labor, for machinery in prosecuting relief works. For example, it is reported that one large United States city is developing a program of winter work that will substitute pick-and-shovel brigades for machines, the object being, of course, to give work to a larger number of men. The same suggestion is being advanced in connection with municipal relief works throughout Canada.

The question is: Should we deliberately abandon our labor-saving devices and revert to the painfully slow methods of yesterday in order to provide jobs for the unemployed? Is it wise to do so, and, in the long run, are the unemployed benefitted thereby? The subject deserves close study.

Without doubt, a good deal of work can be manufactured by substituting primitive manual methods for more efficient machine-processes, remarks the New York Journal of Commerce. Indeed, by some systematic elimination of our modern labor-saving devices, it goes on, we could speedily reduce any modern industrialized community to a condition which would require the full-time effort of every able-bodied person to prevent wholesale starvation and death from exposure. But, without carrying the policy to any such lengths, is the suggestion good in any way?

In one of our prairie provinces where much road work is being carried on as a means of providing employment, decision was reached to build a certain road without use of machinery and solely by horses and manual labor. Objection was raised by some people that by using machinery for certain phases of the work, a greater mileage of good road could be constructed for the same money while giving employment to just as many men because of the greater mileage involved. This view was rejected, no machinery was used, and the work proceeded. A total of five miles of graded road was the result. Now it is realized that with the same number of men given work, practically the same expenditure of money, and the use of a certain amount of machinery, three times that mileage could have been constructed. The farmers of the district who were given relief work on that road would have benefited more from fifteen rather than five miles of good road, while in the years to come they must pay their share of the taxation necessitated by this relief expenditure. They gained nothing temporarily, and will lose in the long run.

Fifty men digging a trench for a sewer or other pipe line with pick and shovel will accomplish just so much in a day, but the same fifty men working in conjunction with a trench-digging machine will accomplish several times as much, and with little more expense. Or fifty men cleaning snow off sidewalks with shovels will only do a fraction of the work that the same fifty men following after snow-ploughs will do, yet the same number of men will be given work and practically the same expenditure of public funds be required.

There should be no hasty assumption that the elimination of machinery in carrying out unemployment relief works is wise, or that more work for the unemployed can be thus provided. It does mean, however, that less will be accomplished for the money expended, and for this economic loss everybody, including those at present unemployed, will have to pay through taxation in the years to come.

Other suggested remedies have more to commend them, as, for example, the proposals in Great Britain and Germany to raise the compulsory school attendance age by one year, thus keeping some hundreds of thousands of children in school for a longer period instead of having them forced into employment replacing others now at work, or merely added to the ranks of the idle and out-of-works. There is something constructive in such a policy, benefiting the coming generation of workers, and raising the whole educational standard of the nation.

So, too, is there much to be said in favor of the suggestion that the present six-day or five and a half-day work week be reduced to a five-day work week, or that the present 8-hour day be reduced to a 7-hour or even a 6-hour day. As the head of one of the greatest industrial corporations in the world today recently pointed out, the greater the amount of leisure time enjoyed by the workers of the world, the larger will be their demand for the things necessary to the enjoyment of those leisure hours, thus creating a greater demand than ever for the production of the things they require. Thus would more men be employed, more goods produced and purchased, a higher, rather than a lower, standard of living created.

Not Good Publicity

Stunt Flying Does Not Help Aviation In Any Way

In the Preakness, N.J., airport on a recent Sunday, 5,000 people were watching the marvels of skill in flight when an airplane driven by veteran Alden H. Russell, went into a tail spin and crashed, injuring Russell seriously and his one passenger fatally. More than these two men were endangered; the crash came within 300 feet of the massed spectators. In Toronto at about the same time a pilot and two women passengers were burned to death in a low crash after stunting.

The friends of commercial aviation in view of the number of such fatalities, may well ask themselves what kind of publicity will most benefit their young industry; the plaudits of the crowd gathered to risk their own lives in seeing reckless pilots risk theirs, or the story of the really remarkable advance that is being made in aviation with a purpose. For, almost unnoticed along with all this dangerous stunting the carrying of air mails and passengers goes on with comparative safety, which should be if attention were not constantly diverted from it by fatal accidents in exhibitions, most encouraging.

It ought not to take a major accident with a hundred people killed by a 'plane out of control to open the eyes of aviation authorities to the necessity of curbing the practice of recklessly showing off what wonderful things can be done in the air—with luck, which does not always attend the venture.

Guard the Baby Against Colds

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds will not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy and good-natured. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Wilmans' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada and Empire Reforestation
Canada is yearly playing a bigger part in Empire reforestation. Fifty-three per cent. of the tree seed exported has gone to Great Britain, forty per cent. to New Zealand, and the remainder to Australia, Ireland, and other parts of the Empire. During the past ten years the British Forestry Commission has planted 140,000 acres of softwoods, the greater part of the seed used coming from Canada.

Cause Of Asthma No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to eradicate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

Western Canada Sugar Production
About 24,000,000 pounds of sugar will be produced this year from sugar beets grown in Southern Alberta. About 14,000 acres of beets were under crop this year. The centre of the industry is at Raymond.

Requisite On the Farm Every farmer and stock raiser should keep a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand, not only as a ready remedy for ills in the family, but because it is a horse and cattle medicine of great potency. As a substitute for sweet oil for horses and cattle affected by colic it far surpasses anything that can be administered.

Meat Consumption In Canada
The per capita consumption of meats in Canada last year was: beef, 676,900,352 pounds or 69.09 pounds per capita; pork, 798,638,774 pounds or 81.52 pounds per capita; mutton and lamb, 70,511,238 pounds or 7.20 pounds per capita.

New Railway Construction

C.P.R. To Commence Work At Once On Saskatchewan Branch Lines

Immediate work on a hundred miles of new rail construction in Saskatchewan is foreshadowed by D. C. Colemen, vice-president of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, in announcing the award of four grading contracts which form a portion of the company's advanced construction programme recently referred to by E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the company. The contracts are for the completion of the line from Nipawin to Henrietta, 20 miles; Rosetown to Gunnsworth, 20 miles; Medstead to Meadow Lake, 35 miles, and from Hamlin, northeasterly, 25 miles.

Drug Ring Smashed

United States Federal Agents Make Thirty Arrests

Thirty arrests in seven cities, and seizure of drugs valued at $25,000, were reported by United States federal officers who for six weeks have worked under cover in an effort to smash what they described as an "international drug ring—one of the biggest and most powerful in the United States."

The secret government agents caused the arrests in Syracuse, Buffalo, N.Y., Utica, Albany, Troy and Schenectady. The coup was said to have been engineered by narcotic officials at Washington and New York.

Three were taken into custody in Syracuse Saturday night, Nov 1, after undercover men, who had gained the confidence of several of the men, said by them to be members of the ring, were lured to Syracuse with invitations to a "wild party."

Better Times Than Ever Loom Just Ahead If Experience Of History Can Be Relied Upon

A "cheer up" cry, with reasons for it, which are as applicable today as when they were written, appears in an article by Macaulay, contributed to "The Edinburgh Review" of January, 1830. He points out that in almost every part of the annals of mankind, the industry of individuals, struggling up against wars, taxes, famines, conflagrations, mischievous prohibitions, creates faster than governments can squander, and repairs whatever invaders can destroy.

The time in which the historian wrote was admittedly one of great distress, and he adds: "If we were to prophesy that in the year 1930 a population of 50,000,000, better fed, clad and lodged than the English of our time, will cover these islands — that cultivation, rich as that of a flower garden, will be carried up to the very tops of Ben Nevis and Helvellyn—that machines, constructed on principles yet undiscovered, will be in every house — that there will be no highways but railroads, no travelling but by steam—that our debt, vast as it seems to us, will appear to our great grand-children a trifling encumbrance, which might easily be paid off in a year or two — many people would think us insane." Such a prophecy, if made, would have come remarkably close to the mark. The population of the British Isles is a little less than 50,000,000, but the people are undoubtedly better fed, clad, and lodged than they were a century ago, and the debt of those days would be considered a trifle now.

But the historian wisely disclaimed any intention to prophesy, and made his appeal to the general principles of history. To almost all men, he says, the state of things in which they have been used to live seems to be the necessary state of things, and though, in every age, everybody knows that up to his time progressive improvement has been taking place, nobody seems to reckon on any improvement during the next generation. It cannot be absolutely proved that those are in error who say that society has reached the turning point; that the best days have been seen; but so said all who came before us with just as much apparent reason. "On what principle is it that if we see nothing but improvement behind us, we are to expect nothing but deterioration before us?" Macaulay declares that rulers will best promote the improvement of the people by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, illness and folly their natural punishment, by maintaining peace, by defending property, by diminishing the price of law and by observing strict economy in every department of the state. "Let the government do this, the people will assuredly do the rest."

The situation today is not new. The world has periodically contended with similar or worse conditions and has emerged more progressive and prosperous than before. Macaulay's appeal to the history of mankind supplies reasons for confidence in the future.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

In addition to many other types of clays Canada has immense resources of clays and shales suitable for the manufacture of building brick, and structural and drain tiles.

A New Definition

Scotch Minister Upsets Idea Of What "Calgary" Means

The friendly controversy which for years has raged over the name of the city of Calgary is expected to break out afresh with the arrival from Scotland of a new Gaelic definition of the word "Calgary." For years it has been generally accepted that the Calgary meant "clear running water." Now comes word from Rev. Archibald Scott, D.D., of Helmsdale, Sutherland, Scotland, that the real definition is "Hut in the Thicket" or "Den of the Rough."—Calgary Herald.

THE COWL NECKLINE TERMINATES IN SCARF

Here's a marvellous dress for Autumn for town wear. And best of all, it's a stunning dress for later that will easily slip under a Winter Coat.

The curved seaming reduces any bulk about the hips.

Style No. 921 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20, years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

You can copy it at a big saving. Black canton crepe with white crepe is very chic and dignified or if preferred the cowl neckline may be made of self material.

Transparent velvet, crepe patterned or plain woolen, crepe satin and crepe marocain are delightful suggestions for this model.

Size 36 requires 3½ yards 54-inch with ½ yard 39-inch contrasting.

DEAN OF C.P.R. CONDUCTORS

Charles H. S. Henderson, train conductor operating on the Canadian Pacific Railway run between St. Stephen and Edmundston, N.B., lays claim to the distinction of having been the youngest train conductor on any railway and of being today the oldest of any in active service. In 1878, at the age of barely seventeen, he was conductor on the New Brunswick Railway between above points and he continued in the same capacity when it was taken over by the Canadian Pacific. Born in 1862, from the age of nine, when he lost his parents, he has been in continuous employment and since 1883 has had uninterrupted charge of regular scheduled trains with the exception of a short term as Train Master. He has had under his care at various times three presidents of the Canadian Pacific Railway—Sir W. C. Van Horne, who said of him, "You're some man, Henderson"—Baron Shaughnessy, who described him as "a very careful and efficient man"—and E. W. Beatty, of whose special train touring the Maritime Provinces last year he was conductor. Mr. Beatty congratulated him on his many years of service and introduced him to Sir Herbert Holt who told him he had the most wonderful record of the system. This year Mr. Henderson was conductor of the vice regal train carrying Lady Willingdon and suite from St. Edmundston to St. Andrews. As above illustration shows, he is still in full possession of the energy and vigor of a man many years younger.

Development Of Dairying

PROGRESS OF WATER POWER INSTALLATION

In taking stock of Canada's position during the present period of world-wide economic difficulty, one of the most inspiring features is the fact that the Dominion's water-power resources furnish a seemingly irrepressible impetus to national progress. In the face of all the buffets development has maintained a sureness of advance through all obstacles — through the pre-war slump, through the disruption of the war itself, and through the drastic ups and downs of the last decade. And today, in the midst of world-wide depression, there is being carried forward the greatest of business cycles, water-power development continues to forge rapidly ahead.

Since 1910 Canada's water-power installation has risen from less than 1,000,000 to nearly 6,000,000 horse-power. The record of growth has been a marvel of persistency. During the past twenty years, water-power program of hydro-electric installation in the history of the Dominion.

This ability of water-power development to hold its forward course in the face of recession in almost every other major field is one of the most fortunate and favourable factors affecting Canada's economic position and progress.

Canada's Greatest Opportunity Lies In Increasing The Production Of Livestock

At a time when the prices for grains and other farm products have been declining rapidly, livestock prices have shown outstanding strength. At present relative prices, says the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, it is decidedly more profitable for the farmer to export his grain in the form of cattle, cheese and bacon than to attempt to sell his grain in a world market burdened with surplus supplies from many countries.

Perhaps the outstanding opportunity in livestock at the present moment is in the market for pork and bacon. The demand for bacon in Great Britain has grown at an amazing rate. In 1921, imports of bacon into Great Britain amounted to 636 million pounds. In each of the last three years the total imports into that market have been more than 900 million pounds. This is an increase of 50 per cent, and most of the additional supplies have come from Denmark. Canadian shipments, however, are no greater today than they were forty years ago.

In 1924, the average price of Canadian bacon on the British market was equivalent to the price which prevailed in September 1930, in that market. In 1924, Canadian exports amounted to 120 million pounds. For the present year it is doubtful whether they will amount to as much as 20 million pounds. In 1924, the price of wheat was approximately 75 per cent higher than at present, and the price of barley, the most important grain for the bacon hog, was more than two and one-half times the price now prevailing. These facts seem to indicate that the possible margin of profit in hogs has improved decidedly.

British imports of dairy products have also been maintained, although the proportion secured from Canada is declining. Canadian exports of butter have practically disappeared and shipments of cheese are one-third less than they were five years ago. Canadian cheese long held first place in the British market and as late as 1928 received a substantial premium for its high quality.

The rapid decline in Canada's export trade in animal products has been partly due to the great increase in domestic requirements. This has been very great during the past few years and production has not increased in keeping with the growing demand. Shipments overseas have been drastically cut, and in some instances, such as butter and lamb, large quantities have been shipped into Canada. Butter imports amounted to nearly 36 million pounds in 1929, and imports of mutton and lamb to over four million pounds. Substantial quantities of beef and pork were also brought in.

Millions of bushels of low-grade wheat and coarse grains are produced in Canada each year. Mill offals, screenings and similar products are available in abundance. Under prevailing conditions, it is more profitable to market these commodities through the medium of livestock and animal products than by selling them as raw materials.

The home market itself offers opportunities for the expansion of Canadian production. The efforts of the British Government through the Imperial Economic Conference and the Empire Marketing Board have created conditions favorable to the extension of Canadian exports in the British markets. The high standard of quality achieved by producers of Canadian bacon and cheese is well known overseas. Farmers and others interested in Canadian livestock might well consider their opportunities for the development of the industry and the extension of both the domestic and export markets for such products. The assurance to importers of adequate and steady supplies with quality and price in keeping with similar products from other countries is necessary if Canada is to regain her former position in the international field. Present conditions seem to be favorable for the expansion of this industry and for greater diversification in Canadian agriculture.

Making Milk Safe

Health Authorities Constantly Urge the Pasteurization Of Milk

Milk and milk products are generally recognized as the most important factors in the food supply of the family, but it is not without its dangers as a carrier of disease germs. It is for this reason that health authorities and experts of the dairy industry constantly urge the pasteurization of milk as the one way by which it can be made absolutely safe. A wealth of material might be written about the value and safeguards of the process. Most of the large dairies serving important centres pasteurize all their milk. From the health standpoint pasteurization is sufficiently important that it should be done at home if a supply from a commercial plant is not available. How this is done is told in the pamphlet "Why Pasteurize Milk" which has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Briefly, by the use of a dairy thermometer and a double boiler of suitable capacity milk is held at a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit for a period of thirty minutes, then cooled quickly to below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. When thus treated milk is safe.

Germany Has Big Libraries

Berlin Leads Cities With Over Nine Million Volumes

Statistics have just been published regarding the number of books in Germany's libraries. According to these the total number is 54,000,000 volumes, Berlin leading with 9,360,000 and Munich following with 4,260,000. In consequence of the regulation that one copy of every new copyrighted work must be sent to the "Deutsche Bucherei" at Leipzig, that city now contains 3,130,000 books, and four other German cities possess libraries that have over a million.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Canada's universities are crowded to the doors, government and municipalities are taxed to the limit with the burden of providing higher academic education, and one might well ask, "Where will all these highly educated people find work when their education is completed?"

The unfortunate part about this business of teaching Latin, French and other subjects indiscriminately is that many students better fitted for technical positions are being forced into line for which they have no natural bent. True, there is such a thing as technical education, but many of the smaller communities of the west are unable to afford the costs of setting up necessary machinery to teach technical subjects, because of the expense involved in maintaining high schools.

It would be an ideal arrangement whereby children graduating from public schools could engage in study that would fit them for the work toward which they naturally incline. If they wish to enter the professions, let them have the necessary grounding, but if they have a desire to be carpenters, plumbers, engineers, etc., give them an opportunity to equip themselves accordingly. It is all very well to talk about white-collared brigades and so forth, but the question is, "What are we doing educationally to reduce this contingent?"

WEATHER MADE TO ORDER TO TEST NEW WINTER WHEATS

Owing to the inability of winter wheat (fall sown) to withstand the rigorous winters of Alberta, its practical culture is limited to the southwestern portion of the province. One of the greatest advantages of the crop is that it provides an excellent cover during the winter and minimizes soil blowing. The University of Alberta is attempting to produce new varieties of winter wheat that are hardy, high yielding and equal to the spring wheats in quality. The testing of hybrid strains in the field is very ineffective in most years. In some winters the conditions are so severe that practically all of the plants are killed. In other years such as the winter of 1929-30 all the plants survived. Under such conditions little is learned of the relative merits of different varieties and strains, and this state of affairs may continue for several years.

Large refrigerating rooms have been installed in the new laboratory of the Department of Field Crops for the purpose of studying several problems in which freezing temperatures are involved. The National Research Council of Canada has assisted in installing the equipment.

Now the winter wheats are grown in the greenhouse and then subjected to low temperatures in the refrigerators. The tender plants are killed off and the hardy ones survive and are grown to maturity. Thus we learn more about the relative hardiness of different winter wheats in a few weeks in the laboratory than we can in the field over a period of several years. The final test of any new variety, however, should be in the field.

The Revival Meetings being held in the M.B.C. Church this week, are proving to be an inspiration this Christmas season. The co-operation and interest of the people is manifest in the regular attendance, of many, the crowds having been splendid thus far. The good road and weather being in our favor. Last Sunday a fine crowd gathered for worship, with an attendance of 176 at Sunday School, the highest mark yet reached during the present pastor's ministry. You are invited to worship with us over week-end and Sunday.

The Christmas program of the Evangelical Church will be given on Christmas Night, December 25th. The church doors will open at 7 p.m. and the program will commence at 7:45 p.m. After some preliminary exercises by the Sunday School children, a Christmas cantata, entitled "The Manger Glory" will follow. This cantata engages over forty characters, young and old, to carry out the bible story of the newborn King. A new feature of the cantata is the unfolding of the Old Testament prophecies pointing to the coming Saviour. Decorations and everything else will be carried out in harmony with the occasion. Most of the characters taking part will be attired in oriental costumes. This ideal of high-class religious program involves much greater expense than the "free collections" in past years have amounted to, and the committee therefore feels justified in asking for a small admission fee to this program, and which has been set as follows: Adults, to auditorium, 25c; gallery, 35c. Children, to auditorium, 10c; gallery, 15c. Special arrangements for all enrolled scholars will be announced in Sunday School on Sunday.

Now the winter wheats are grown in the greenhouse and then subjected to low temperatures in the refrigerators. The tender plants are killed off and the hardy ones survive and are grown to maturity. Thus we learn more about the relative hardiness of different winter wheats in a few weeks in the laboratory than we can in the field over a period of several years. The final test of any new variety, however, should be in the field.

There are well nigh as many suggestions for handling the unemployment problem as there are people in Canada. The first electrically-driven tug to be built in Canada was launched at Lauzon, Quebec, recently, when the "Prescott", Diesel-electric tug for the Canadian Pacific Car and Passenger Transfer Company's service between Prescott and Ogdensburg, slipped into the waters of the St. Lawrence after the traditional bottle of champagne had been broken against her bows by Mrs. M. McD. Duff, wife of the manager of the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship service. It is the first electric tug to be built in Canada, and is designed to tow a three-track railway car-float with accommodation for 16 hundred-ton cars.

Canada is taking advantage of all opportunities to fight tuberculosis and I think is far ahead of England in the matter of sending students to sanatoria to make an intensive study of the subject, said Dr. J. ### DON'T BLAME THE TEACHER

Every parent is vitally interested and should sift out the causes of his child's lack of achievement at school. Ask yourself the following searching questions:

Is my child handicapped with poor health? If so, I can and must remedy it by consulting an expert and introducing Junior Red Cross into the schools.

Is he lazy and indolent? If so, I must teach him to discipline himself and energize his habits of living.

Is he the victim of late hours, undue excitement of social events outside, loss of sleep and consequent

A Mother's Anxiety

About Her Delicate Daughter

"She seems to be fading away," said an anxious mother recently about her daughter. Thousands of mothers could say the same thing. Their daughters endure a trying life robbed of all vitality and brightness. Their cheeks are pale; their eyes dull; their steps languid and every movement tells of shattered health. If neglected their suffering grows more acute till decline sets in.

If your daughter complains of weariness; pains in the side; weakness; headache or backache; her appetite is uncertain and her spirits low—anaemia is the cause. She needs new blood. Give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once for these pills actually renew and enrich the blood. They make sickly girls well and happy; improve the appetite and bring back all the charm and brightness of perfect health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

May Not Be Practical

Value Of Reading Machine Yet To Be Proved

A new invention from Berlin is a "reading machine" which will project printed pages upon a screen, enabling either a family or an entire audience to read together. The projector greatly enlarges the picture, permitting several pages of normal size reading to be reproduced from a film the size of a postal card. Whether this invention will be of any practical value remains to be demonstrated. The inventor declares it will revolutionize the publishing of books, since one of these small films can take the place of several books.

Certain morbid conditions must exist in the stomach and intestines to encourage worms, and they will exist as long as these morbid conditions permit them to. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

C.P.R. Hotel For London

Arrangements Have Been Made For Securing Suitable Site

Announcement was made by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, of the acquisition of a site for the hotel proposed to be erected by the company in London, England. Mr. Beatty's statement follows:

"After protracted negotiations, the company has succeeded in securing a hotel site in London, facing Berkeley Square and Bruton Street. The block is a substantial one, containing approximately 77,000 square feet in area. Negotiations for its acquisition are just about completed, and when possession is secured, which will not, however, be for some months yet, the work of construction will commence. In the interim, the company's engineers and architects will proceed with the preparation of preliminary plans. The hotel, when completed, will contain a minimum of six to seven hundred rooms."

DO YOU SUFFER WITH HEADACHE?

So easy to get quick relief and prevent an attack in the future. Avoid bromides and dope. They relieve quickly but affect the heart and are very dangerous. They are depressing and only give temporary relief, the cause of the headache still remains within. The sane and harmless way. First correct the cause, sweeten the sour and acid stomach, relieve the intestines of the decayed and poisonous food matter, gently stimulate the liver, start the bile flowing and the bowels pass off the waste matter which causes your headache. Try Carter's Little Liver Pills. Druggists 25c red pkgs.

Winter Service Arranged

Mail Will Be Carried Into North By Air More Frequently

Arrangements for an air mail service into the Mackenzie River district through the winter of 1930-31 have been made by the Post Office Department, according to an announcement in the November supplement to the Canada Official Postal Guide.

The air mail service will supersede all previous mail services to this area and will effect more frequent and speedy communication than has been possible in the past. The frequency of delivery will be increased to more than double, and the time will be reduced to less than half.

The mail service between Herschel Island, Y.T., and Aklavik, N.W.T., will be performed by police patrol. Rae will be served irregularly by police patrol from Fort Resolution.

Trying Hypnotism As Cure For Amnesia

Young Man's Memory Is Being Gradually Restored

Through the strange powers of hypnotism, memory may be restored to the healthy young man who awoke last year in a small New Orleans hotel with his past a complete blank.

All other treatments having failed to penetrate the fog of his memory, the patient agreed to permit Dr. Paul C. Young, Professor of Psychology at Louisiana State University, to try hypnotism.

Dr. Young reported that these experiments conducted over a period of months at the East Louisiana Hospital had brought some results, and may prove as fruitful as those conducted by Dr. William Brown, British hypnotist, with shell-shocked veterans.

Bit by bit his past has been reconstructed, Dr. Young explained, by putting the patient under delusion that he was again a child. In the trances, Dr. Young said, the man had mentioned an orphans' home called "Sacred Heart," a Sister Mary, of being a newsboy in San Francisco and of being called "Chuck" by playmates. He also mentioned having infantile paralysis, which was proved by a physical examination.

Encouraged by the results, Dr. Young hopes to bring him through the stages of his life until he can pick up the threads lost when he awoke in New Orleans.

Outside of his loss of memory physicians said the man appeared to be healthy and normal. He has adopted the name of "Mason."

Dairy Production Higher

Latest Statistics Show Appreciable Increase For All Canada

"Statistics of dairy production at the present time indicate that there is an appreciable increase in milk and cream production all over Canada at the present time," observes Dr. J. A. Ruddick, dairy commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. With respect to butter production Ontario and Alberta show a 15 per cent. increase for the first six months of the production year. Cheese production, of which 97 per cent. is centered in Ontario and Quebec, was 30,000 boxes behind last year at October 11. One of the interesting features in the dairy industry at the present time is the increasing demand for dairy stock in the prairie provinces.

For treatment of caked bags in cows, or garget, use Douglas' Egyptian Liniment — the quick, sure remedy. Saves time and expense. Prevents blemished stock.

Will Build Produce Market

Twenty market gardeners in the Winnipeg region are planning the construction of an all-year produce market in Winnipeg, to be conducted by the growers, each of whom will occupy a stall. The cost of the building will run to about $35,000.

Automobiles Entering Canada
In 1919 the number of touring automobiles entering Canada was 228,000. In ten years (1919) this number grew to 4,500,000.

Chapped Skin

Wind, snow and sleet bruise unprotected skin surfaces. Minard's heals the raw skin tissues and affords full protection.

Popular stories to the contrary; there is no such thing as a hoop-snake which can put its tail in its mouth and roll along.

WHEN CHILDREN FRET

THERE are times when a child is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's quick comfort in Castoria!

For diarrhea, and other infantile ills, give this pure vegetable preparation. Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness. Castoria has a good taste; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

"He moved on slowly, reaching Nick's gate and looking up at a doorway beautiful despite its peeling paint. There was no sign of Gay. In Bakersville most men come home at noon, and at eleven-thirty their wives are in the kitchen. With the unerring instinct of one born and raised in the community, John Maxwell made his way toward the side door.

He saw then, that Gay was in the orchard, hanging some diminutive pink garments on the line. Her task done she glanced across into her neighbor's garden, where, still clad in crisp blue linen, Mrs. Halliday was superintending the setting-out of plants. Glancing up, she caught Gay's eye, and bowed. There was nothing friendly in the act—nothing akin to the greeting she had tossed across the square to Nick, a few hours earlier. John Maxwell's grey eyes hardened. Then, as Gay caught sight of him, he smiled.

"Mr. Maxwell! What brings you out this morning?"

"Only the spring. Couldn't seem to settle down to work, and Nick gave me leave to take a holiday."

Gay laughed and said: "Will you stay to dinner with us?"

"Not today. Guess you have enough to do, cooking for your own three boys. Nick's still a boy to me, you know, if he has been married long enough to acquire a family. Do you like your new neighbors, Gay?"

They had reached the porch, and the girl sank down wearily, glancing at the pocket of her dress, which was held at one corner by a safety pin.

"I hope you don't think I use pins instead of needles for my mending!" Her glance strayed to the trim blue figure across the hedge, and her color rose. "It's Sonny does it. He can just reach my pockets and he will pull at them. Sometimes he tears them when I can't stop to mend."

She was silent for a minute before she said, in answer to his question: "You asked about the Hallidays? I hardly know them. Nick called one night when I was laid up with a headache. He says they're very pleasant. She's an artist, and they're fixing the house beautifully. It makes me crazy to fix ours; but everything takes so much money. There's Sonny calling. He's just waked up, but baby's sleeping. Do wait and see him, Mr. Maxwell."

"Yes, I'll wait. I want to poke 'round your pansy bed. Most all ours got winter-killed this year."

But when Gay had gone John Maxwell didn't move toward the pantries. He sat on the steps, watching the blue-clad figure opposite. The flush that had mounted to Gay's cheeks as she glanced at her new neighbor, had not escaped him; nor had the tired lines beneath her eyes.

He wondered if it were only the children who had caused Gay's lack of sleep. Was it possible that Nick, the steadiest fellow in the whole world, was making a fool of himself over another woman? Stranger things happened every day, and Nick was only a boy—a boy who had never quite had his fling.

John Maxwell understood. He himself, had married at twenty-one. He remembered a time some four years later, after the advent of the second baby, when life had seemed a good deal of a treadmill. But there had always been Mary. Never for a moment had he looked at anybody else. Surely Nick—

"Here's my big boy, Mr. Maxwell." Gay stood in the doorway, Sonny, fresh and sweet in a pink romper, in her arms. For a moment the tired lines had left her eyes, and only the pride of motherhood was there. John Maxwell, many times a grandfather, thought he had never seen a sweeter picture. He stretched out his arms, and with a delighted cry the boy went to him.

"He wouldn't do that with everyone," said Gay. "He's rather shy."

"I think he remembers my last visit, as well as my watch charm that always fascinates the youngsters."

The caller had seated himself upon the steps again, and given the boy his watch. Sonny stared at it a moment soberly, then held it to his ear in a way that made them laugh.

"He looks more like his daddy than he did, Gay."

"I've noticed that. I love a boy to look like his father. It's strange, Mr. Maxwell, but Nick wanted a little girl. I thought a man always wanted a son; and Nick's such a man's man, too. But I honestly think he was disappointed, especially when the second baby wasn't a 'little sister'; though he wouldn't change either of them now," she added, smiling.

"Daddy?" asked the child, looking up questioningly at his mother.

"Nearly time for him," Gay answered, and smiled tenderly. "Daddy's the first word he said, Mr. Maxwell. I remember feeling the least bit hurt! And Nick's such a wonderful playmate that he adores him. I—"

She stopped because the boy had uttered a delighted squeal. He wiggled away from John Maxwell's knee, while the watch, forgotten, hung limply by its chain. Nick was coming! With swift, unsteady feet the child ran to him; and with a sense of genuine relief the president of the First National Bank saw that his paying teller had no eyes for the lady across the hedge. He stooped with outstretched arms, and lifting his small son high, kissed the top of his bright head—hugged him a moment rapturously, and settled him on his shoulder as he came forward.

"A pretty sight, that," said John Maxwell softly.

But Gay did not speak. She had arisen, and was watching her husband with an intensity not quite natural in a wife of four years standing. The blue figure in the adjoining garden was also watching; though Nick was serenely unconscious of an audience. He came nearer, grinned, and said: "So this is how you take a holiday, Mr. Maxwell—calling on my wife? Mind if I kiss her? It's a sort of habit I've acquired."

"A good habit," said John Maxwell quietly. "Don't stop for me!" and the fact did not escape him that as Nick obeyed, Mrs. Halliday, shrugging as if disgusted at this display of family affection, turned away.

"Damn her!" said John Maxwell below his breath.

He said it again when he was in his private sanctum at the bank that afternoon. Nick had insisted that he stay to dinner, and as they started back to work, Mrs. Halliday appeared on her front porch. She didn't speak, but her smile was so intriguing that Nick stopped; exchanged a few words about the garden; presented Mr. Maxwell as his "chief," and, at a subtly expressed hint from the lady, promised to step over after supper and survey her peony plants.

"I've been hard at work in the garden all the morning," she apologized prettily, with a glance at her spotless linen gown. "If you'll forgive my appearance now, I'll promise to look less disreputable this evening."

"You look," Nick instantly replied, "like a part of the garden itself," which bit of gallantry brought a sudden, satisfied light to the woman's eyes.

The walk to the bank was, on the whole, silent. It was as they turned into Main Street that Nick said, as if it were something he'd been considering: "Queer, isn't it, how some women can work in a garden, or 'round a house, and look so confoundedly neat? Now Gay—"

John Maxwell snorted angrily.

"Neat! My dear boy, that woman never set out a plant in her whole life! She stands about looking pretty, and ordering some man to do the dirty work. Take care, Nick, that she doesn't take to ordering you!"

Nick stared at the frowning visage of his old friend; then laughed and said: "To do her dirty work?"

"There are all kinds of dirty work, my boy," answered John Maxwell, so soberly that Nick exclaimed: "Good thunder! Mr. Maxwell, you don't think—"

"I don't think anything," broke in the older man hastily, already fearing that his indiscretion might put ideas into Nick's head. "I don't think anything except that you'd better take care of Gay. She's got hollows in her cheeks."

They had reached the bank, and without another word its president marched into his private room and slammed the door.

"Damn her!" he said for the second time that day.

Yet, when he cooled off and thought it over, he realized that he had no grounds whatever for his suspicions. As he had said to Gay, Nick was still a boy, though he had shoudered a man's responsibilities. Why shouldn't he enjoy talking with a pretty woman? John Maxwell smiled at the thought that he, himself, was not averse to doing so! Should he blame Nick because Gay seemed tired and listless? Most young mothers were, being unused to broken sleep and sudden loss of freedom. He remembered when Mary had looked like that—and his two daughters as well.

Sunshine Needs Aid In Relieving Distress

An organization which is working twelve months in the year and particularly during the cold weather months to help those in distress is the Calgary Herald Sunshine Santa Claus Fund. Every year at this time an appeal is made to contribute to the fund and assistance is sought, not only in the City of Calgary, but throughout the province the reason that the Sunshine Society helps to relieve suffering in various parts of Alberta, as well as in the City of Calgary. Sunshine has been functioning for eighteen years and in that period has relieved the distress of thousands.

It is a good thing for Alberta that such an organization exists because there are many cases which cannot be assisted through official sources and if, in the cases are not helped, the suffering would be intense.

Those who are in the happy position where their lives are comfortable are invited to consider the plight of those who lack the common necessities of life and are invited to show their warm heartedness through the medium of contributions to the Sunshine Society.

There will be special Revival Services at Didsbury M.B.C. Church, December 12th to 21st. All are cordially invited to attend these services, and enjoy the gospel messages in sermon and song.
